

Optoma GameTime Projector Packs Hit Selected PC World Stores Across the UK

Gamers get ready – the Optoma GT-3000 portable gaming projector available now in PC World Gaming Zones

London, 17th December 2008: Optoma has today announced its new GameTime GT-3000 portable gaming projector pack will be available to buy from selected PC World stores across the UK from Saturday 20th December. The perfect accompaniment to the Nintendo Wii console, the gaming pack, which includes an ice-white projector, speaker set and bespoke backpack, will be showcased in special gaming zones at PC World stores, so visitors can try the ultimate big screen gaming experience before they buy.

Designed with portability in mind, the Optoma GameTime pack offers a high quality projector that can throw a massive 300 inch* display, 2.1 speakers with integrated sub woofer and a purpose-designed backpack for big screen, big sound console gaming wherever you go. The projector can also connect to almost any device with video-out, such as DVD players, set-top boxes, digital cameras, iPods and PCs.

Optoma offers two distinct models in its GameTime range:

- Optoma GT-3000 - an SVGA projector in an ice white finish, with a 2000:1 contrast ratio and ultra-bright 2300 lumens. Retailing for just £349, the GT-3000 is the perfect compliment to the Nintendo Wii console
- Optoma GT-7000 – a high end, HD-ready projector in a piano black finish, with an amazing 4000:1 contract ratio and 1600 lumens. The all-in-one high definition gaming projector set is available for only £499

Both the Optoma GT-3000 and GT-7000 are available to buy online at www.pcworld.co.uk . The GT-3000 will be available from the following PC World stores: Teeside, Stoke, Lakeside, North Shields, Gateshead, Liverpool, Southampton, Leeds, Reading and Romford.
